

Prof. Ziad A. Massy, M.D., Ph.D. Boulogne/Paris, France

Ziad A. Massy is Professor of Nephrology and Head of the Division of Nephrology at the Paris West University (UVSQ)- Ambroise Paré University Hospital, Paris, and Co-Director of Research Unit INSERM U-1018 CESP Team 5 at the UVSQ, Versailles/Villejuif, France. Prof. Massy is a Member of ERA-EDTA Council and Chair for the ERA-EDTA Registry and Clinical Governance Affairs. He is an advisory board for the EURECAM Working Group, and CKD-MBD WG Working Group, and a current member and former co-chairman of European Uremic Toxins (EUTox) group. He was a Core-member of the Executive KDIGO board. He obtained “Fondation du Rein” Award at Sept 2010 and Hungarian Society of Nephrology award at November 2015. His research areas of special interest include uremic toxins, cardiovascular disease, vascular calcification, hyperlipidemia, oxidative stress, and chronic renal failure. He has published several original articles, reviews and chapters of books in his domain of interest (Index H: 69 (via Web of science) or 81 (via Publish or Perish v6), Publications Medline (March 2021) total n= 542.